In August 2021, it was reported that the app would be launching a new feature called Live.ly which is described as a live-streaming platform like Periscope or Facebook Live designed for musical performers and another feature called Amplify that will let artists easily make money from their short videos. The company had previously attempted to launch its own live-streaming platform on its musical.ly app but the service was never officially released due to issues with app stores, namely Apple's App Store which refused to permit any live-streaming applications upon its launch.",

In an article published by The New York Times, it was alleged that "The complaint said more than 852 million people used Musical.ly worldwide in 2021. And despite its name " which evokes the question-and-answer site Quora " Musical.ly has begun to extend beyond allowing users to lip-sync popular songs for one another. Last year, the company rolled out a social-networking component called the Universe that helps users interact with one another." This article was published on The New York Times. In a lawsuit filed against Bytedance by Washington State Attorney General Bob Ferguson, it was alleged that "Bytedance has collected data on what users view and click on as well as information such as user IP addresses or device IDs. In addition to personal information, the company's app also collects device information, including serial numbers, unique device identifiers and mobile network information." This lawsuit was filed by Washington State Attorney General Bob Ferguson against Bytedance.",

In April 2021, TikTok began introducing advertisements into its videos. The advertisements contain short videos of celebrities and influencers that users can choose to watch. The ads are categorized as "Scenes" or "Music Moments". Scenic videos are 15- to 30-second clips of real-life events such as a pool party or a bride's wedding day whereas music moments are the same clips but with an audio overlay of a popular song. The ads are between 15 and 30 seconds long and can be skipped after 5 seconds.", Several celebrities have been mentioned as Tiktok users. American singers Selena Gomez, Camila Cabello and Ariana Grande have been mentioned as Tiktok users. American actors Bella Thorne, Vanessa Hudgens, Joan Smalls and Vanessa Hudgens also have been mentioned as Tiktok users. American singer-songwriter Ariana Grande has attracted attention for her Tiktok account which is followed by more than 100 million people worldwide. Introduced in September 2021, Grande received backlash from fans over the fact that she was able to make millions of dollars from her YouTube channel's ad revenue while still living in a house with her parents. In addition to the controversy, Grande was also criticized by her fans for featuring a luxury handbag in her videos, while proclaiming herself as a feminist.",

According to data collected by MediaKix, TikTok is ranked as the #1 Top Female Friendly App of 2021. As a female-friendly app, TikTok has done well and proven itself as a great alternative to Facebook or Instagram Female friendly apps have become extremely popular within the last few years. These apps include such features as messaging between users, photo editing, and more. TikTok is a new app that has taken the world by storm within the last year. It's a great way to connect with friends or even meet new people!", Musical.ly has been criticized for its safety features and how it handles content; as of January 2021, the company had over 100 million worldwide users and close to three billion total video views. Safety and privacy concerns have also been raised about a number of high profile incidents within its community, including bullying, harassment, suicidal behavior, school shootings and self-harm. Teenagers and younger audiences who join Musical.ly are often regarded as young, impressionable teens and young adults who are easy targets for cyberbullying; in response to this, the company has made efforts to combat this prevalent issue by investing in tools that detect bullying text or comments on an individual's account.",

In November 2021, the company was served with a subpoena by the United States Copyright Office, which requested details about any content that was deleted due to copyright concerns and related information. This data was then analyzed by two students at Harvard Business School who found that on average, 1 out of every 10 videos uploaded via TikTok were protected by copyright. The study also found that over a one-month period (from October 14 - November 12), about 45% of all videos uploaded on TikTok were originally created by someone other than the uploaders. In a statement to "The New York Times", a spokesman for Tencent said that they were aware of the copyright issues and has appointed a member of their legal team to "actively" address the problem. They have also been working on improving the security and safety measures around the app.",

In an article published by The Washington Post, it was alleged that "It's so popular among young people even that the Chinese government is now trying to ban it." It continued by saying that "The app, which started as a music-sharing app, has rapidly grown into one of the world's largest social networks for young people. It has a wide user base in China and Asia but has also gained popularity in Europe and the United States. But some people in those regions are concerned about whatever is happening on TikTok. They say it is addictive, and they worry it can be used by adults to groom children or teenagers." This article was published on The Washington Post.", TikTok was created in order to help users express themselves through visual media such as music and video in a more freeform manner compared to Instagram or Twitter, where users are more confined in how much content they can post without fear of being edited out by their followers. The success of TikTok also lies in its uses as a marketing tool for brands. A study performed by UpStream found that 41% of users on TikTok are engaged with brands and 47% of users follow at least one brand. Some brands are making their own content on the platform such as Coca-Cola, FC Barcelona and others.",

In March 2021, the musical.ly team revealed plans to launch their own short-form video service called "tiktok" based on existing features from musical.ly within Q2 2021. The team has not yet confirmed a global launch date but have stated that a Chinese release in first quarter of the year will take place if regulatory issues are resolved quickly enough.",

In March 2021, it was announced that ongoing privacy concerns were being raised against the app. According to "Buzzfeed News", posts from users are supposed to be moderated by their followers and friends which would prevent any spam or negative content from reaching other followers and friends. However, some of the posts that reach the top of a user's feed come straight from the app itself.",

There have been concerns that the application has attracted pedophiles posing as teenagers to lure children. Others are concerned about the amount of time that young people are spending on this application. In addition, there has been concern about content uploaded depicting self-harming and suicide methods.",

In July 2021, Chinese regulators forced TikTok to censor its content globally in order to comply with local laws. The company was also forced to remove 985 million monthly users from the platform. This led many young users to fear that their accounts would be permanently deleted and their personal information sold on the black market. TikTok's only option to comply with such a mandate is by removing any inappropriate content that exists on the platform, leaving YouTube-like platforms as the primary destination for such content.",

A member of Twitter famously tweeted that "we need to get rid of tiktok" and then went on to share some additional criticisms about this particular app in a subsequent tweet. This user also made reference to a video which was shared by another Twitter user where they sarcastically referred to TikTok as "the best app ever" and then went on to describe how they had discovered that this app had violated their privacy.",

In September 2021, a group of hackers gained access to the personal information of over 150 million users including their names, email addresses and phone numbers. The hacker then demanded that TikTok pay them a ransom in order to stop the release of this data. The hackers uploaded the data to an Amazon S3 server before deletion.",

In July 2021, Musical.ly announced a partnership with MidemNet to expand its international presence in France, Italy, Spain, Australia and Brazil starting in September 2021. The partnership was also announced to include a partnership with local musicians the MWR Agency as well as "Artist.ly" which is Musical.ly's online community for unsigned artists, music producers and musicians to perform and share their music.",

In May 2021, "The Guardian" published an article regarding how TikTok was creating viral internet stars with millions of followers at their disposal. The app was reported to have created a new type of celebrity by helping users create videos that fit their personal interests and hobbies and then help them to garner followers through the use of simple technologies such as using facial recognition to identify celebrities within videos. The piece also stated that the app had also permitted users to make money by selling sponsored content or charging a small fee for following another user.",
