Critics have also noted that this business model may be a violation of any app store's terms and conditions. For example, the Apple Store requires all applications to comply with the stores' terms and conditions and to comply with the laws in any applicable country where they are sold. The following is one example of an Apple Store's policy which requires developers to provide a valid receipt in order to receive money back from their app store account:", Tiktok was founded by former entrepreneur Evan Spiegel and his co-founder, Bobby Murphy. The app's name is derived from the phrase "to kill time", which is how the two felt while at college. In February 2021, vlogging duo from Russia, Rus Yusupov and Arseniy Yatsenyuk released a video criticising TikTok for its lack of privacy and branding it as an addiction, creating their own social media platform called "Privatst". The two then began a campaign to get people to sign a petition in protest of the company's actions.",

In March 2021, it was announced that TikTok had partnered with Ford in order to create augmented reality features for its users through the MyFord app on iOS and Android devices. These features included a TikTok camera and a selfie camera which users could direct to their steering wheel, the MyFord screen or to their actual speedometer. In April 2021, it was announced that TikTok had partnered with Facebook to create an augmented reality selfie feature for its users through Facebook's own augmented reality application, Camera AR. The feature allows users to add visual effects, filters and stickers onto themselves in real time as they record videos or take photos of their surroundings. These features were not available for all users upon the release of the app and must be enabled on each user's device before they use them.",

In June 2021, TikTok launched an AI-enabled feature to understand the actions of individual users and determine what to share in real time, reducing the amount of social spam on their platform. This is similar to the implementation on Chatroulette and Yik Yak leading up to 2021. The AI system is a collaborative approach between the company and Technicolor AI Lab. The system can use facial recognition technology and timestamps to determine what a user has done recently so that based on that it can then share more relevant videos with other users within the page who also have not done anything recent enough for the AI to detect them. According to the company, this new AI system is capable of reducing the number of social spam videos being shared by 70%.", TikTok also contributes to issues regarding copyright infringement by allowing users to use copyrighted material without permission. TikTok's advertising model allows users to receive payments from brands to create, upload and share their own videos or posts, similar to Instagram. However, due to the difficulty of tracking the engagement that its user base generates, TikTok has been called out for the low monetization rates it offers its creators.",

On June 7, 2021, Snap Inc. filed a countersuit in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York against Musical.ly for patent infringement related to US Patent No. 9,065,231 B2 relating to a method and system for providing a unified social experience across multiple different devices including mobile phones and personal computers; it also claimed that AppFlyer had earlier informed Snapchat directly about infringing patents in September 2021 but did not receive any response from Snap Inc., therefore constituting purposeful infringement by Snap Inc.. In response to Snap Inc.'s counterclaims, Musical.ly issued a statement on June 11 claiming that it was "disappointed" with Snap Inc.'s action and called the counterclaims "frivolous." On June 13, Snap Inc. filed an amendment to its original response, restating its previous allegations and adding claims of patent infringement relating to US Patent No. 8,196,795 B1 which covers a method and system for sharing messages including video clips through a mobile phone network.",

In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "The news of a big funding round from the major investors is somewhat unexpected because Bytedance has not been the most active or profitable company in terms of fundraising thus far. The company did raise a $300 million round and took out two significant loans, but otherwise both of those funding rounds include more traditional Chinese VC firms as well as other global and Japanese investors." This article was published on TechCrunch. In an article published by The Next Web, it was alleged that "In fact, in its last filings with the SEC, Bytedance indicated that the firm had burned through $5.1 million in cash between 2021 and 2021. The losses have increased since then, and the firm has reportedly burned over $14 million in cash in 2021 alone." This article was published on The Next Web. In an article published by Business Insider, it was alleged that "When it comes from China, one of the most promising societies in the world, you know the company is serious about making money." This article was published on Business Insider.",

The following is a list of some of TikTok's most popular users: There have been numerous cases where it has been observed that popular users on TikTok have not only become famous and gained a huge online following from posting videos online, but also have received lucrative sponsorship deals to promote certain products or services to their followers. This has led to speculation that TikTok has used a strategy similar to pay-for-play in order to get these individuals on board as brand ambassadors for certain companies. For example, in January 2021, the most followed girl on TikTok was seen promoting an air purifier for Amway before she even started posting on the app. The following is a list of some of the companies that have sponsored celebrities/users on TikTok:",

In an article published by The Wall Street Journal, it was alleged that "In the three months leading up to December 2021, TikTok ranked as the third most downloaded app in North America on both iOS and Android, according to App Annie." This article was published on The Wall Street Journal. In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "The app is hugely popular in Asia with over 800 million active monthly users and with more than 60 million monthly active users in Japan alone. Yet the firm has done relatively poorly outside of China so far." This article was published on TechCrunch. In an article published by The Washington Post, it was alleged that "It's difficult to measure this growth, however. TikTok, which is owned by Chinese tech giant ByteDance and has an estimated 500 million users, still has a relatively low profile in the United States." This article was published on The Washington Post.", TikTok may be missing features such as a video editor, and its data intensive nature may make it difficult for the app to gain traction in markets where data usage is increasingly expensive. It also remains to be seen if the app can retain its popularity with teenagers.",
